SEEKS DEATH BY GAS

Pullman Conductor Tries to End His Life.

WRITES NOTE TO FRIEND

In Fit of Despondency, James L. Hughes Tries to Asphyxiate Himself and Is Saved by Quick Work of Janitor of His Apartment—Condition Is Not Serious.

In a fit of despondency James L. Hughes, thirty-five years old, a conductor employed by the Pullman Company, attempted to commit suicide last night by asphyxiating himself with illuminating gas in his apartment at the Ventosa, First and B streets northwest.

Hughes lost consciousness and was near death when George Holden, janitor, detected the odor of gas in the corridor leading to apartment 39. He broke open the door and discovered the would-be suicide in bed with a flowing stream of gas jets. The janitor turned off the gas, opened windows, and summoned help. Dr. Thomas Linnville, of 905 Tenth street northwest, was among the first to arrive. He sent a hurry call to Casualty Hospital and adopted emergency methods to restore Hughes. The patient recovered before the ambulance arrived, but Dr. Tibbets, of Casualty, decided to remove him to the hospital. The police were notified and Bicycle Policemen Collins, of the Sixth precinct, was detailed to investigate.

Writes Note to Friend.
It was thought Hughes was a victim of foul play until a note, in his handwriting, was found on top of his dresser. It read: Friend Petty: I cannot stand this any longer. Please notify Dr. A. Barnes Hove by telephone—North 969. Take charge of my remains until my brother gets here. Good-by. Think of the one in a while. Your friend, JAMES L. HUGHES.

The note was addressed to J. C. Petty, a Pullman conductor, who lives with Hughes. The police were unable to learn the name or address of Hughes' brother. Dr. Hove, who lives at 1229 Sixteenth street northwest, was away from home last night, and efforts to locate him were fruitless. It is said he has been attending Hughes for some time for an illness which caused the conductor's despondency. Petty was absent from his apartment, and it is said he is out of town.

Physicians at Casualty Hospital say Hughes' condition is not serious. It is believed he will be able to leave the hospital to-day or to-morrow. He is well known to employees of the Pullman Company, and is among the most popular of the younger men in the service.

SAILOR SHOTS HIMSELF.

Tar from Dolphin Victim of Accidental Revolver Discharge.

Henry Ferguson, thirty-three years old, a member of the crew of the United States steamship Dolphin, accidentally shot himself in the thigh Saturday night while returning from Capital Heights, Md. He is at the Naval Hospital, where his condition was reported as not serious. Residents of Capital Heights heard the revolver shot and notified the police that a murder had been attempted. Ferguson was found at the Naval Hospital later and said he was at work when his revolver was accidentally discharged.

CHURCH HONORS FOUNDERS.

Clergymen Join in Celebrating 130th Anniversary.

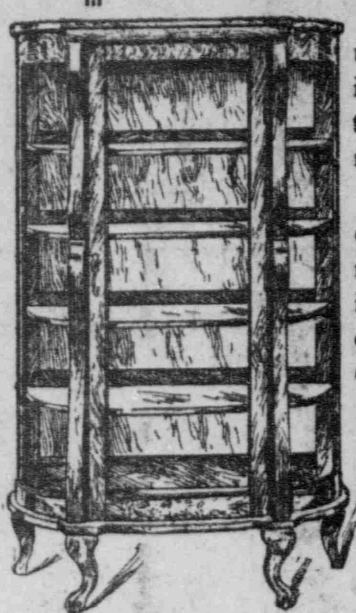

Services in celebration of the 130th anniversary of the West Street Presbyterian Church were continued last night when Rev. Dr. Benjamin F. Bittinger, stated clerk of the Washington Presbytery, gave an account of the history of the church. A brief address was given by Dr. S. H. Howe, pastor of the Congregational Church, Norwich, Conn., and pastor of the West Street Church from 1872 until 1883. Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Kelly, who was intimately associated with Dr. John C. Smith in the pastorate of the Fourth Congregational Church, also made a brief address.

Letters were read from Rev. David W. Moffatt, of Madison, Ind., pastor from 1870 to 1872, and from Rev. Dr. William C. Alexander, of Roswell, N. Mex., pastor from 1893 to 1908. Both former pastors heartily congratulated the church on its success.

To-night there will be a public reception in the chapel and a brief musical programme, followed by an address by Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe and Rev. Dr. Charles L. Pate.

Mrs. Helm Would Be Free.
Leona B. Helm yesterday filed a suit for a legal separation from Edgar E. Helm, a clerk in the engineer department of the District, alleging cruelty, desertion, and nonsupport. They were married December 28, 1898, and there are two children. Justice Gould cited Helm to show cause next Friday why he should not be compelled to pay his wife $30 alimony per month.

DIES AT HOME OF SON.

Leo Schlosser, Aged Seventy-nine, a Victim of Heart Failure.

Leo Schlosser, seventy-nine years old, died of heart failure yesterday at the home of his son, Julius Schlosser, 31 Maple avenue, Takoma Park.

When stricken, he was dressing just after arising from his night's rest. His daughter-in-law was attracted by the noise made by him in falling and rushed upstairs to his room, but he was dead when she reached his side.

Coroner Nevitt, after investigation, gave the necessary death certificate.

MASS FOR PAN-AMERICA.

Rev. William T. Russell to Conduct Thanksgiving Day Service.

The Pan-American mass will be celebrated again this year at the request of the Secretary of State in St. Patrick's Church Thanksgiving morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. William T. Russell, the pastor, will officiate.

The congregation will be composed of the ambassadors and ministers of the twenty-one republics of Central and South America, members of the Cabinet, judges of the Supreme Court, the District Commissioners, and army and navy officials, their wives and daughters. After the mass the men will be entertained in the rectory and a luncheon served.

The Pan-American mass was inaugurated last year by Father Russell and met with such success and produced so much good-will among those interested that the Secretary of State suggested that it be repeated this year. The mixed and vested choir of the church will sing the mass, and there will be a full orchestra. The church will be decorated with the flags of the republics of the American continent.

INDORSE LIGHTING SCHEME.

Georgetown Citizens Declare for Great Falls Power.

The Georgetown Citizens' Association last night indorsed the efforts of Commissioner Judson to utilize the vast water power of the Potomac River at Great Falls to supply the district with electric light.

Frank P. Leitch, secretary of the association, read a letter from Capt. Mark Brooke, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, in reply to one from the association asking that the granite block roadway in P street, from the bridge to Wisconsin avenue, be replaced. The reply stated that the item had been recommended to Congress for the two past years, and until they had got an appropriation from Congress, the Commissioners were powerless to remedy the condition.

TAFI APPROVES PLANS.

Postmaster Merritt Issues Statement About New Home.

The plans for the exterior of the new city post-office, which were drawn by Burnham & Co., the architects who designed the Union Station, have been approved by President Taft, Secretary MacVeigh, Postmaster General Hitchcock, and Supervising Architect James Knox Taylor, according to a statement issued yesterday by Postmaster Merritt.

This announcement, in the opinion of the postmaster, means that the new building will be ready for occupancy in about two years. The plans for the interior are now being prepared by the same architects, under the supervision of a committee appointed by Postmaster General Hitchcock.

The committee is composed of the following postal officials: Dr. Charles P. Grandfield, F. H. Galbraith, superintendent of mails in the Chicago post-office; John Washington, superintendent of delivery in the New York office; Edwin Sands, of New York, superintendent of foreign mails, and Postmaster Merritt.

It is expected that the interior plans will be ready in a month, and it is hoped to start work early in the spring.

OPEN-AIR SCHOOL IN SESSION.

Pupils Pursue Studies While Wrapped in Blankets.

With an attendance of thirty-two pupils, the first open-air school in Washington was inaugurated yesterday morning at the Blake school, in North Capitol street, between K and L streets, northwest.

One room in the southeast corner of the second story of the building is practically windowless, and the children pursue their studies in it, comfortably wrapped in overcoats and blankets when necessary. When the temperature falls below 40 degrees, however, the windows are closed and steam is turned on. In case of a rain or snow storm, of course, the windows will be closed.

Supplementing the open-air plan is the serving of refreshments and hot drinks at the morning recess. They will be served with hot milk, cocoa, or hot soup, the meals being prepared by the seventh grade girls who are studying cookery.

The Dewey Hotel, 14th and L sts. NW, is now open for the season. Special weekly and monthly rates. Call and look at rooms. M. O. & W. W. Brown.
